Client

Sports Basement

History:

This is another long term ghost we'd like you to try and clear out of San Francisco. We have been getting reports from all over the city of mysterious disappearances and we believe they may all be linked. The Sports Basement in the Presidio has hired us for this job after several items inexplicably disappeared from their inventory.

Notes:

This ghost does not seem to stay in one place for long and finding any haunt-site has been tricky. It even seems to be trying to confound us by haunting one of the hardest places to navigate on earth! We suggest you review Navigation in your hand book and if you don't have a compass, pick one up at The Sports Basement. We finally stumbled on what appears to be a secret stash of items buried at a nearby beach (see memo). Lock on to the ghost at the Sports Basement parking lot and meet our agent at the first haunt-site. They will give you further instructions upon arrival.
